

WEATHER FORECAST:
Cloudy tonight and Monday.
(Full Report on Page Two.)

The Washington Times

SUNDAY EVENING EDITION

NUMBER 8585.

WASHINGTON, SUNDAY EVENING, JULY 4, 1915.

PRICE ONE CENT.

HUNT AIDES OF MORGAN'S ASSAILANT FEAR PLOT AGAINST OFFICIALS' LIVES

OROZCO FLEES INTO MEXICO; WILSON GETS READY TO ACT

Huerta Will Be Kept in Closest Detention by U. S. Until His Lieutenant Is Brought Back to Texas.

President Carefully Maturing Plans—Expected to Make Announcement Soon After His Return to Washington.

Gen. Pascual Orozco, alleged co-conspirator with Gen. Victoriano Huerta in a plot to launch a new revolution in Mexico, escaped across the border after eluding his guard at El Paso, and is now on Mexican soil.

The Department of Justice was advised of Orozco's escape across the border today, but the Bureau of Investigation said the report it had received was "unofficial."

Chagrined at Orozco's escape while out on bonds of $7,500 awaiting trial on a charge of conspiracy, officials of the State and Justice departments expressed a determination to keep Huerta in closest detention until Orozco is brought back to Texas. Whether this will be done by denying the ex-dictator bail, or by placing his bail at the highest possible figure and increasing his guard if he is given temporary liberty, officials would not disclose.

WILSON PREPARES TO ACT.

All reports from Cornish, N. H., today are to the effect that President Wilson is preparing to act in the Mexican situation. He is carefully reaching conclusions and maturing plans.

An announcement is expected soon after his return to this city in a few days.

Almost all his time while in his office is devoted exclusively to the Mexican situation. Long code messages from the State Department are being received by him, and, according to sources close to the President, it is said that he is particularly perturbed over the obstacles hindering Red Cross relief work.

The Department of Justice has not received a full report on Orozco's escape from the guards stationed around his house in El Paso. A report from District Attorney Camp or Special Agents Beckham giving details of Orozco's reported flight across the border is expected momentarily. District Attorney Camp has been instructed to send a complete report on the rearrest of Huerta at El Paso. This action was taken on the initiative of the district attorney after Orozco's escape, and the Washington Government has not been advised of the reasons for the action.

Munitions Depot Unearthed.

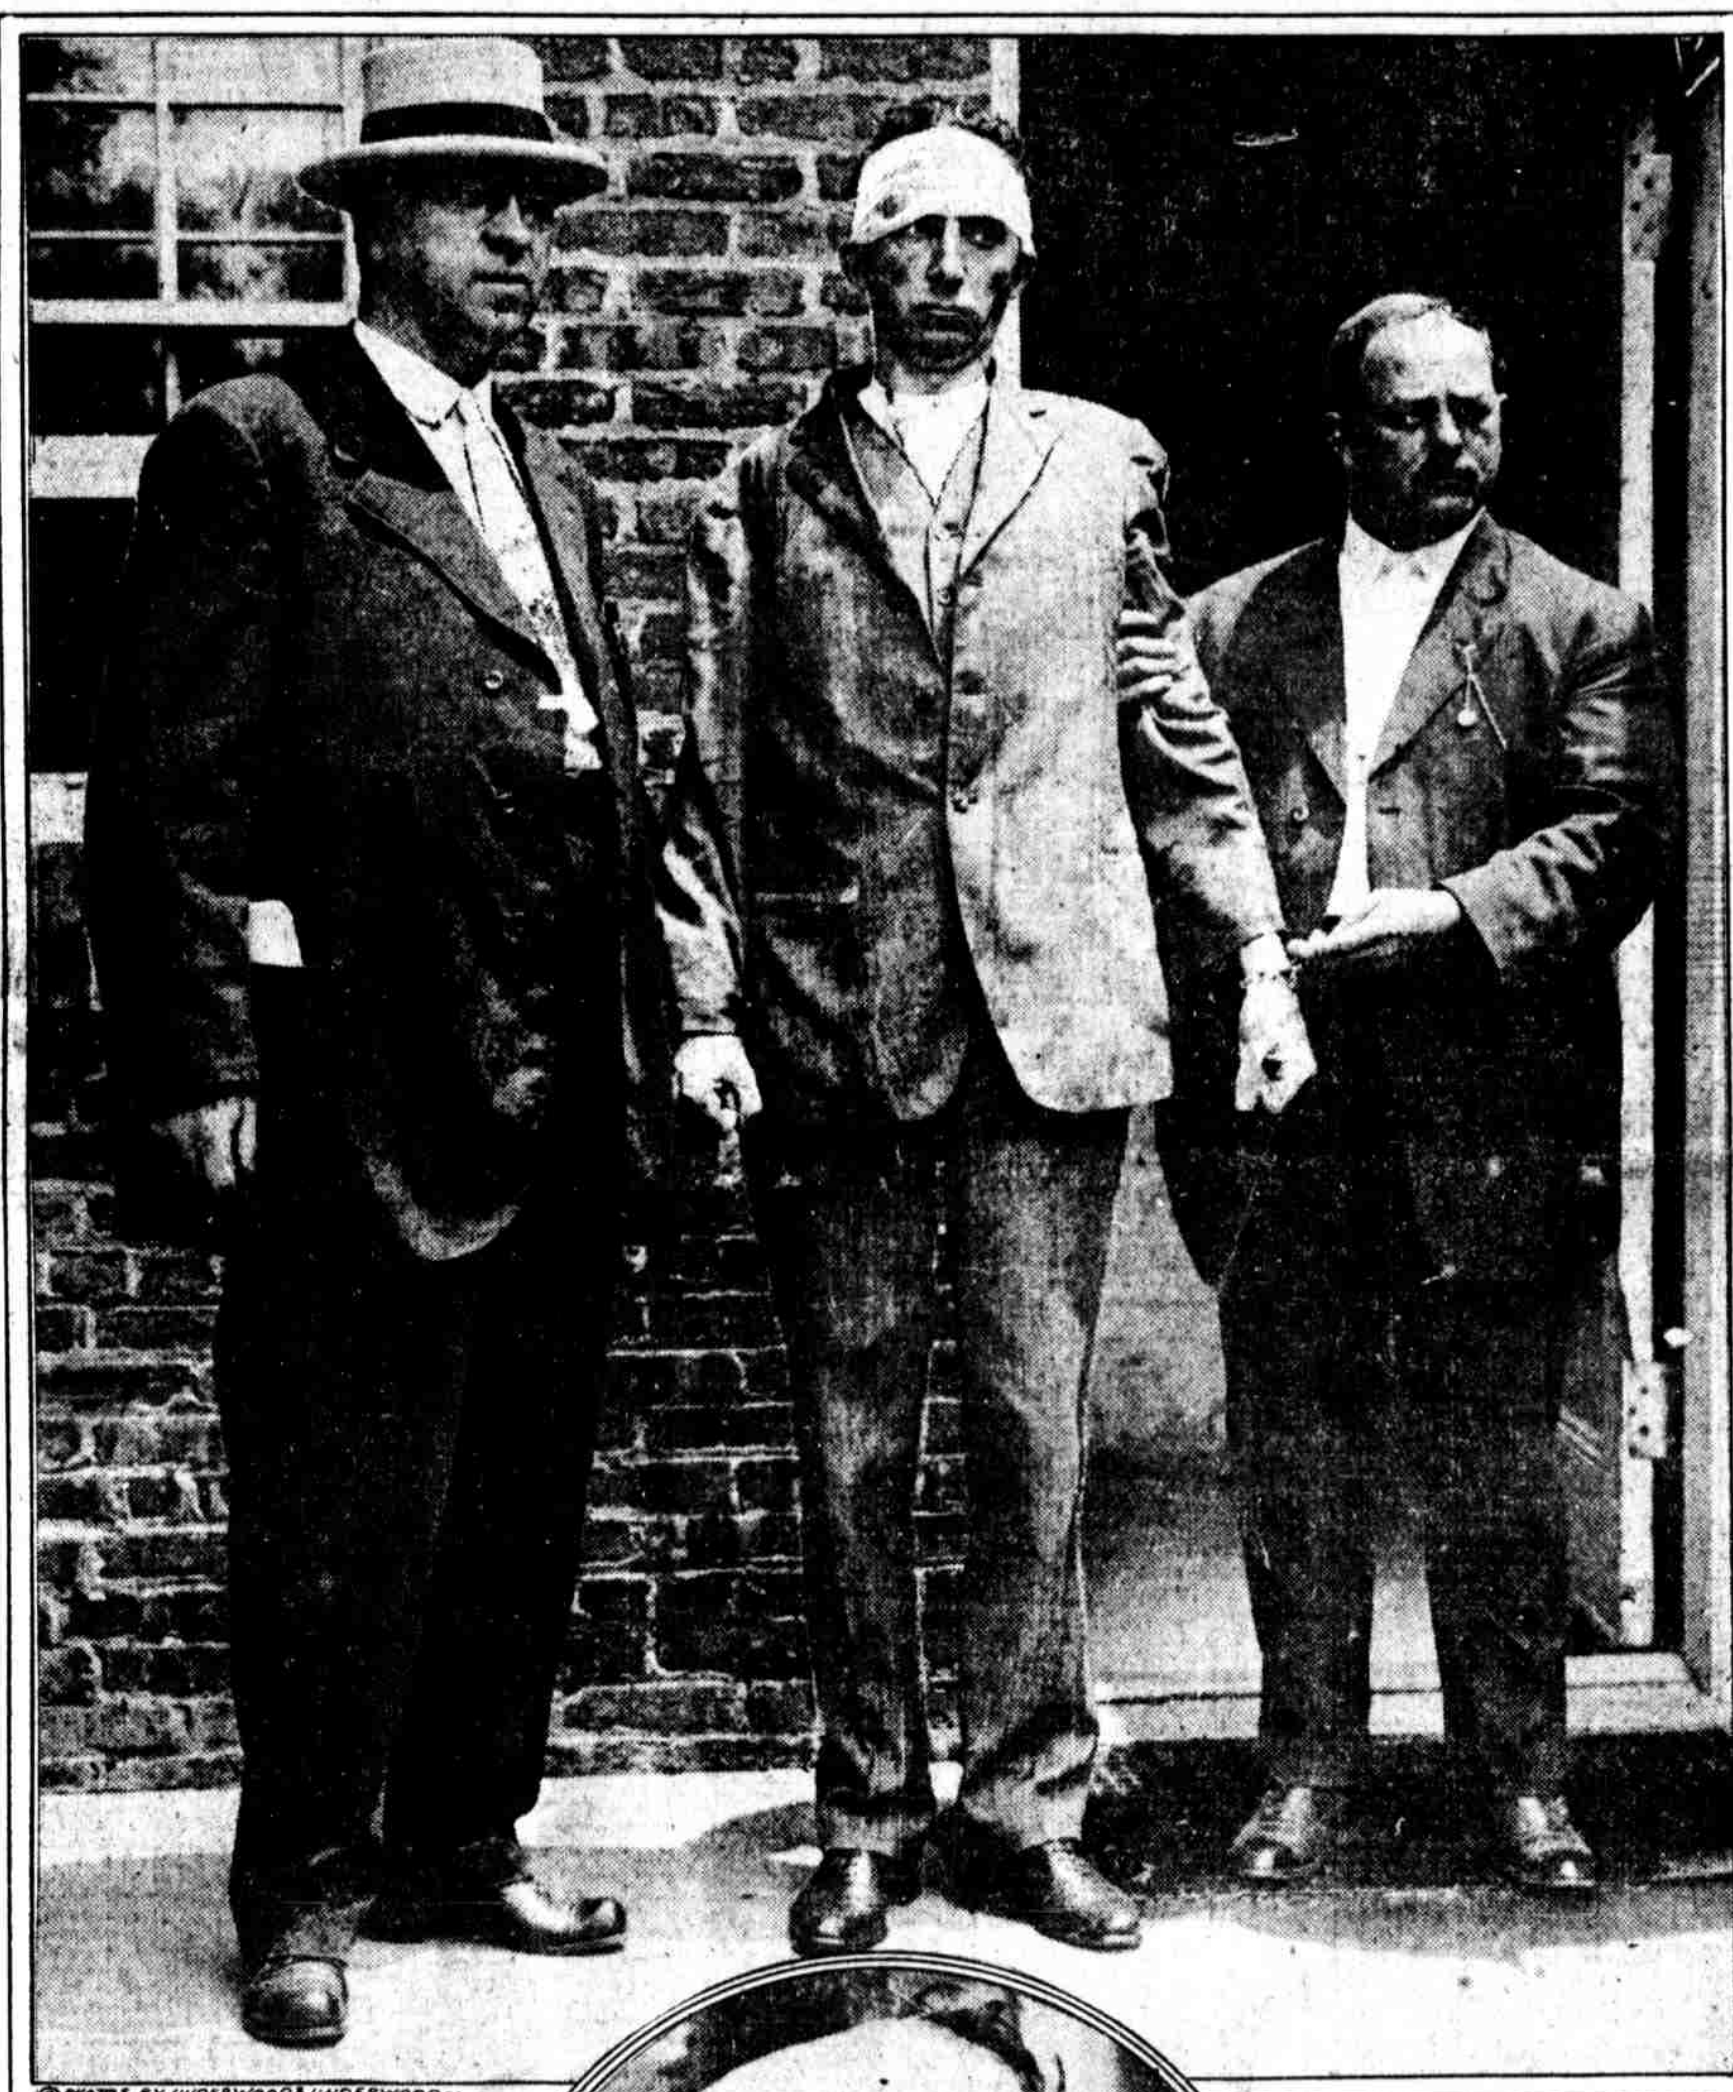

Evidence that the Huerta-Orozco plot was more widespread in its ramifications had had at first been supposed was placed before the State and Justice Departments today by Enrique C. Lorente, Villa's Washington agent. Mr. Lorente transmitted to the two departments a report received from the Villa commander in Ensenada, Lower California, telling of the discovery on the American side, five miles from the border, of a depository for ammunition, in which 250 rifles, 300 revolvers, and 25,000 rounds of ammunition were stored. The Villa commander at Ensenada reported that the arms and ammunition had been stored in an adobe hut on the road between an Diego and a Culebra by an American who was believed to be implicated with Huerta and Orozco in a plot to inaugurate a revolution in lower California.

No Action On Carranza Request.

The State Department took no action today on the application of the Carranza agent in Washington for the extradition to Mexico of Huerta, Felix Diaz, Manuel Mondragon, and Aureliano Blanquet, who are charged by Carranza with the murder of President Madero.

(Continued on Page Fourteen.)

MAN WHO TRIED TO BLOW UP THE CAPITOL

LETTER TO THE TIMES GAVE OUT FIRST CLUE

Wired to New York, It Forces Confession of Explosion in Capitol Building.

The first clue connecting the J. P. Morgan assault, and the Capitol bomb explosion was a similarity between the prophecies uttered by Holt, after his attack on Mr. Morgan, and the peace plea advanced in rambling fashion in the "R. Pearce" letter mailed to The Times shortly before the Capitol explosion.

Inspector Boardman immediately associated the two outrages with the appearance upon the street of the noon edition of The Times yesterday, which contained the "R. Pearce" letter and the details which came from New York later in the day of the attempted assassination of Mr. Morgan.

The letter received by The Times, mailed two hours before the Capitol explosion Friday night, was in the hands of the police early yesterday morning. The letter, and it alone contained reference, in the body of the letter, to the "Senate" outrage. The letter as typewritten, it appears, had a blank space for the insertion of a word describing the location of the explosion. The evident purpose of the bomb operator was to select some Government building. After the Senate was selected as the place for the bomb attack against warfare, the word "Senate" was carefully inserted in the letter to The Times.

Above—From left to right, THEODORE CAMPBELL, deputy sheriff; FRANK HOLT, assailant of J. P. MORGAN, and FRANK MacCALL, constable.

Below is a picture of Holt alone, showing how infuriated servants at the Morgan home vented their anger on him after the crime.

When The Times mail was opened yesterday morning, the significance of this falsely signed letter was immediately realized and it was turned over to the police, who began a dragnet search for the writer. Meanwhile, the early editions of the New York evening newspapers carried extracts from the letter received by The Times, making special mention of the clue turned up by the Washington newspaper.

With the attack upon J. P. Morgan and the first rambling statement of Holt about world peace the value of this clue was greatly increased and after a period of "sweating" Holt confessed that he had executed the bomb outrage as a part of his campaign to convince the United States that war is wrong.

The fact that "Pearce" communicated (Continued on Second Page.)

WAR CRANK GRILLED BY PULLMAN ON HIS OUTRAGE IN SENATE

Washington Police Chief In New York, Attempting To Confirm Absolutely Holt's Confession of Two Crimes—Great Financier Will Recover, Doctors Say.

In an effort to establish conclusively that Frank Holt, the pro-German peace propagandist, who shot J. P. Morgan and confessed responsibility for the bomb explosion in the Capitol building, had no accomplices, Maj. Raymond W. Pullman, chief of Washington police, remained over in New York today.

Holt freely admits both outrages, but denies having accomplices. Major Pullman and New York police officials have persistently quizzed Holt regarding the suspicion that he had been associated with others in his mad plan to emphasize the German anti-munitions propaganda and the hunt for other plotters is in progress.

That Holt, had he been successful in his assault upon Mr. Morgan, might have gone farther and sought the lives of prominent officials and even that of the President, is a fear lurking in the minds of police heads here and in New York.

Holt's incessant talk of his peace propaganda causes the police to suspect that his plot had deeper ramifications.

The Secret Service guard about the President has been increased and a closer watch is being kept on Government buildings and all high Government officials.

Until it is definitely established that Holt had no accomplices and that he planned and executed both the Washington and Glen Cove outrages there will be no let-up in this watchfulness.

J. P. Morgan, the twice-wounded financier, will recover. Physicians do not expect complications because of his two wounds in the thigh.

The financier's struggle with the crazed pro-German peace propagandist, who invaded his home with revolvers and dynamite, is an absorbing detail of the remarkable story.

The confession of Holt, obtained last night, goes fully into his plans for blowing up the Capitol and shooting Mr. Morgan. At first, however, Holt denied knowledge of the Capitol explosion, and the police are endeavoring to verify his connection with it independent of his confession.

The prisoner, who will be arraigned at Mineola next Wednesday, stolidly denies that he had companion plotters. "Only God," he says, knew of his peace program and his desire to stop the shipment of war munitions making possible "further murders" in Europe.

In the disordered brain of Holt, Mr. Morgan might have prevented the war, and he might now stop it. Yet, Holt now asserts, he did not want to destroy entirely either Mr. Morgan or the Capitol building. He merely sought "to protest" with bomb and revolver.

Holt's confession that it was he who planted the time bomb—a crude yet effective device—in the Senate reception room Friday night, was made to Captain Tunney last evening.

An official of the German embassy refused to dignify with a denial what he termed insulting insinuations that Holt typified a German-inspired conspiracy to stop the exportation of war munitions from this country.

Morgan to Recover, His Doctors Assert

GLEN COVE, N. Y., July 4.—J. P. Morgan, the banker, who was shot yesterday by Frank Holt, will recover, according to the latest bulletin.

At 10 o'clock Dr. H. H. M. Lyle and Dr. J. W. Markoe declared that the patient was resting easily and that as

GERMANS ISOLATE CZAR'S RIGHT WING

General Mackensen Separates Russian Armies—Advance Guard Near Lublin.

BERLIN (Via Wireless to London). July 4.—General von Mackensen's daring dash into Russia from Lemberg has resulted in complete success of his plan to separate the Russian armies, war office dispatches received today assert.

Mackensen's drive northward between the Bug and Vistula already has isolated the Slav right wing. His advance guards are reported within thirty-four miles of Lublin.

From a point northeast of Lemberg to the Dniester river, General von Mackensen and Austrian commanders are sweeping the Slavs out of Galicia on a 100-mile front.

Germans Progress Quickly.

The official statement issued by the war office says that north of the Dniester the German troops, advancing with continuous fighting, are in pursuit of the enemy. They are advancing from the Mariampol-Marsjow-Miasto line toward the Zlota-Lipa section. They

(Continued on Fifth Page.)

50c—An Opportunity Times Visit Your home in Old North State. Special edition July 14, Southern Railway, Consul agent—Adv.

Free Dancing at Great Falls, Va.—Adv.